1.10 Valuation of Allocated Asset

Valuation will be conducted at least once a month, in accordance with the recognition and measurement criteria outlined in the Malaysian Financial Reporting Standards (MFRS). The returns on this investment account will be affected by the performance of the allocated assets including, but not limited to, the asset quality (e.g. impairment) and fluctuations in the Effective Profit Rate (EPR), particularly financing assets priced using the floating rate methods.

The principal and returns are not guaranteed, and an IAH may be exposed to the risk of no returns at all. This investment account is not protected by Perbadanan Insurans Deposit Malaysia (PIDM). 1.14 Investment Risk

Investors are advised to carefully consider all risk factors before making an investment decision. Investors will be exposed to credit risk, concentration risk, market risk, liquidity risk, legal risk and Shariah non-compliance risk. Please visit Bank Islam's website for further explanation of each risk.

One of the key risks unique to this fund is the investment concentration risk. Investment concentration risk is a risk that arises from excessive exposure to a particular type of asset, a single counterparty, a single geographical location or others which may produce losses that are substantial enough to threaten the financial condition of the fund or entity. Due to the investment in non-retail assets, the exposure of the fund to a single counterparty is higher leading to greater investment concentration risk and consequently greater adverse impact on the investment returns in the case of asset impairment. As an effort to mitigate the risk, the investment concentration risk is monitored closely at the asset level on a monthly basis to not exceed 25% as guided by Bank Negara Malaysia Investment Account Framework.

5.0 MARKET OUTLOOK

5.1 Economic Outlook

Global growth is expected to moderate, with forecasts revised downward due to rising trade tensions stemming from higher tariffs and stricter trade policies. Geopolitical risks, particularly in the Middle East, have also dampened global economic and financial market sentiment. As a result, we have revised Malaysia's 2025 GDP growth forecast to 4.4% (from 4.7%; 2024: 5.1%).

Despite external headwinds, domestic demand is expected to remain the main driver of growth, supported by strong employment and wage gains that continue to fuel private consumption. A stable, low-inflation environment and an expanding tourism sector will further support household spending. Investment activity remains robust, backed by multi-year infrastructure projects and realisation of approved investments. However, we remain cautious of persistent geopolitical risks and global trade uncertainties, which could weigh on business, consumer and investor confidence.

5.2 Sustainability & Climate Outlook

As an Islamic financial institution, Bank Islam's commitment to sustainability is rooted in the principles of Maqasid Shariah, which emphasize the preservation of faith, life, intellect, lineage and property. Islamic finance, with its emphasis on risk-sharing, asset-backed transactions and ethical investing, offers a unique value proposition. By avoiding speculative elements (gharar) and harmful industries (haram), it ensures that financial flows support real economic activity and societal well-being, principles that are closely aligned with the objectives and concepts of sustainable finance.

Sustainable Islamic finance, such as Sustainability Sukuk, is projected to grow significantly in the coming years. According to recent projections, the global Islamic finance market is expected to expand from approximately USD 5.5 trillion in 2024 to USD 9.3 trillion by 2030, driven in part by the rising demand for ESG-aligned and Shariah-compliant financial instruments.

Malaysia is firmly committed to achieving Net Zero emissions by 2050 and advancing the UN Sustainable Development Goals. To realize this ambition, the country is set to attract approximately RM300 billion (USD ~65 billion) in green investments by 2030, under its Green Investment Strategy and National Energy Transition Roadmap. These require the mobilisation of vast capital toward clean energy, low-carbon infrastructure, and nature-based solutions. Financial institutions, especially those with strong ESG mandates such as Bank Islam, are uniquely positioned to facilitate this transition.

In line with Bank Islam's Sustainability Commitment, Bank Islam set a bold Sustainable Finance target of RM28 billion by 2025 – a goal the Bank is on track to achieve ahead of schedule, by the end of this year. This milestone has been driven by financing flows into key sustainable projects and product offerings, which includes Renewable Energy and Energy Efficiency, Affordable Housing and Community-focused Developments, Sustainability Sukuk issuances, ESG-aligned Term Financing, and Impact investment Funds.

Bank Negara Malaysia (BNM) continues to guide financial institutions toward more sustainable and climate-resilient practices through key frameworks such as the Climate Change and Principle-based Taxonomy (CCPT) and the revised Climate Risk Management and Scenario Analysis (CRMSA 2.0). These initiatives highlight growing expectations for stronger climate risk governance, enhanced disclosures, and alignment with sustainable development goals.

In response, Bank Islam has embedded climate risk into its enterprise risk management framework through the Group Climate Risk Management and Framework (GCRMF), integrating climate risk scenario analysis and climate risk stress testing into its risk assessments, and enhancing its internal capacity through training. Additionally, as part of its Sustainability Strategy and Roadmap, Bank Islam is committed to achieving Net Zero by 2050. This will be pursued by partnering with clients in high-emission sectors to drive decarbonisation, supporting sustainable financing for climate mitigation and adaptation, and exploring opportunities in transition financing.

Bank Islam is also committed to achieving operational carbon neutrality by 2030. The Bank has implemented measures to reduce its operational emissions through energy efficiency retrofitting and solar photovoltaic (PV) installations, resulting in a 67% reduction from the 2023 baseline of 12,099 tCO₂e.

Looking ahead, Bank Islam remains steadfast in its commitment to advancing sustainability rooted in Maqasid Shariah principles and aligned with global goals. By mobilising responsible capital and embedding robust climate risk governance, the Bank supports Malaysia's Net Zero ambitions and drives sustainable and just economic growth, ensuring ethical finance delivers lasting value to society and stakeholders.
